In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson signed a bill designating the second Sunday in May as a legal holiday to be called "Mother's Day"—dedicated "to the best mother in the world, your mother." For the first few years, the day was observed as a legal holiday, but in absolute simplicity and reverence—church services were held in honor of all mothers, living and dead.

The Bittersweet Legacy of Mother's Day

According to many sources, Anna simply wanted to honor her mother, claiming that her mother was the originator of the real Mother's Day. As the holiday went mainstream, she was dismayed to see it become more commercialized with the sending of greeting cards and flowers; she also didn't even want the holiday promoted by women's organizations, charitable foundations, or public health reformers to raise money—somewhat ironic considering her mother's public health mission. In 1948, Anna Jarvis died in a sanitarium in a state of dementia.

Mother's Day Today

Mother's Day endures and evolves. Just as Mother's Day was the creation of multiple women, the modern Mother's Day celebrates the varied roles of mothers today. We commemorate the many ways mothers have fought to better the lives of their children, from social welfare to non-violence. We also honor the way mothers have raised and nurtured their children with love and courage.

Mother's Day

Mother's Day is a great time to give back and show love to a deserving mother who is facing difficulties and challenges. Parenting doesn't come with a manual. however, most times it does come with a mother who loves unconditionally and is deserving of a token of appreciation. We are looking for women who desire to support mothers who are experiencing challenging circumstances by providing them a special Toiletry Treat Bag. Let's be creative, please fill a new totes, purse or backpack of your choice with female products. Please see list below for examples

1954

National Nurse Week was observed from October 11-16. the year of the observance marked the 100thh anniversary of Florence Nightingale's mission to Crimea

1972

Again a resolution was presented by the House of Representatives for the President to proclaim "National Registered Nurse Day." it did not occur

1974

In February of that year, a week was designated by the White House as National Nurse Week, and President Nixon issued a proclamation.

1974

In January of that year, the international Council of Nurses (ICN) proclaimed that May 12 would be "International Nurse Day." (May 12 is the birthday of Florence Nightingale). Since 1965, ICN has celebrated "International Nurse Day."

1978

New Jersey Governor Brendon Byrne declared May 6 as "Nurse Day." Edward Scanlan, of Red Bank, N.J., took up the cause to perpetuate the recognition of nurses in his slate. Mr. Scanlan had this date listed in Chase's Calendar of Annual Events. He promoted the celebration on his own.

HISTORY OF NATIONAL NURSES WEEK

1981

ANA, along with various nursing organizations, rallied to support a resolution initiated by nurses in New Mexico, through their Congressman, Manuel Lujan to have May 6, 1982, established a "National Recognition for Nurses."

1990

The ANA of Directors expanded the recognition of nurses to a week long celebration, declaring May 6-12, 1991, as National Nurses Week.

1997

The ANA Board of Directors, at the request of the National Student Nurses Association. designated May 8 as National Student Nurses Day.

1982

in February, the ANA Board of Directors formally acknowledged May 6, 1982 as "National Nurses Day." The action affirmed a joint resolution of the United States Congress designating May 6 as "National Recognition Day for Nurses."

1993

The ANA Board of Directors designated May 6-12 as permanent dates to observe National Nurses Week in 1994 and in all subsequent years.

1982

President Ronald Reagan signed a proclamation on March 25, proclaiming "National Recognition Day for Nurses" to be May 6, 1982.

1996

The ANA initiated "National RN Recognition Day" on May 6, 1996, to honor the nation's indispensable registered nurses for their tireless commitment 365 days a year. The ANA encourages its state and territorial nurses associations and other organizations to acknowledge May 6, 1996 as "National REN Recognition Day."

Honoring Black Nurses in History

Mary Eliza Mahoney (1845-1926)

At 33, Mary Eliza Mahoney was one of four students out of 42 to graduate from the New England Hospital School of Nursing, making her the first Black nurse to graduate from nursing school and receive a professional nursing license in the United States. She was a champion for increased access to nursing education and fought against discrimination throughout her career

Adah Belle Thoms (1870-1943)

Adah Belle Thoms graduated as the only Black nurse at the Women's Infirmary and School of Therapeutic Massage in 1900. She continued her studies, then became the supervising surgical nurse and acting director of Lincoln Hospital in New York City from 1906-1923. Due to racial policies, she was never named director.

Estelle Massey Osborne (1901-1981)

Estelle Massey Osborne is a prime example of how scholarships can change a life. After leaving a teaching career to become a nurse, she took her training at a hospital in St. Louis—and then received a scholarship to continue her education. She earned a Bachelor of Science degree, then continued her studies to become the first Black nurse with a Master of Science degree.

Osbourne tirelessly opened academic doors for Black nurses. She raised funds for students to attend Black colleges, joined the faculty for the Department of Nursing Education at New York University, became the first African American Associate Professor to teach at the University of New Maryland, joined the U.S. Cadet Nurse Corporation, and served as the eleventh president of the NACGN.
